Oh my Lord Sai
You are my mom
You are my dad
You are my teacher
You are my God
And You are my everything
Oh my Lord Sai
Fill me with your love and grace
Show me your way and Teach me your path
Give me the courage and patience
Make me pure in thought and deeds
Keep me from pride and greed Make me a friend of the poor, the needy, the sick and forgotten of this world
Oh my Lord

Grade 4

5 Human Values – Abisha Amalan

Love is the glue that helps us stick together.

Life's a game made for everyone and love is the prize.

Life without love is nothing but darkness.

Truth is like fire that can never be blown away

A hidden lie can never persist

Just remember a half truth is a full lie

Peace puts the world together like a puzzle

Peace keeps your mind calm and in control

Without peace your mind will be in pieces

Right Conduct is a blooming flower

Right Conduct conducts you down the right path

You are judged by the way you act

Non-violence is the basis for world peace

Non-violence rules out all crimes

A world with non-violence is all that we desire.

Dear Swami,

In my calculation, 94 years of your teachings to the Sathya Sai School in Toronto, Canada, we are blessed to have you in the School and making it possible for us students to come in this only School in Canada.

I am speechless about how I came in this School all the way from JK to Grade 4!

6 lucky years to stay in this School and I will be graduating Grade 8 for you!

Grade 5

Food Drive – Vaanshi Phull & Ahimsaa Piraisoody

Let's do something good, let's give some food
I have some starch of potato; my mom gave me some sauce of tomato.
Let's do something good, let's give some food
Kidney beans with rice will also taste nice
Let's do something good, let's give some food
Needy people also need greet, even wheat will be a good treat.
Let's do something good, let's give some food
Don't forget to bring cooking oil, pack of Tacos and some aluminium foil.
Let's do something good, let's give some food
Let's give food to the needy,
Let them be happy, let them enjoy,
They are not greedy; they are just needy.

The five human values – Sameeksh Sripathi & Srihas Thandra

The five human values
Are all intrinsic to us,
It's time to bring them out and focus.
Show the values clear and loud,
Make the world a better place and ourselves proud

Sathya Sai Baba – Adithisri Sriram Nirmala

He is affectionate,
He is honest.
He is patient,
He is the best!
Who is he?
Sathya Sai Baba!
He is loyal,
He is a friend.
He is calm,

He is magnificent!
Who is a good role model?
Sathya Sai Baba!
He is generous,
And encouraging too.
He will sure inspire you,
That's true!
Who is the teacher?
Sathya Sai Baba!
Salutations to our school's Founder!

The Five Human Values – Sangeerth Sujeevan and Darren Lijo

Love is a value
A very special thing
I think that's what we should do
Because it is all about kindness and caring
And it's a gift for all of us too.
Peace is a boon
To keep destruction away from me
It's amazing like the moon
It's something great we all can see.
Truth keeps us away from trouble
The value to be chosen
It keeps our lies from turning double
Now the level of lies hasn't risen.
Right-conduct isn't something rude
The good deeds you have to do
The results improve our mood
But it's a value like the rest too.
Non-violence is an amazing thing
It keeps us out of harm
We won't hurt our friends for a thing like ring
We help others like we do to animals on a farm.
These are our five human values
They're special too
They are actually true
And they are what we do.

The Generous Man – by Yashica Vadde & Dahlia Muralitharan

Sathya Sai Baba is someone to me
He did so many things for you and me
He respects us all
Never angry at all
We should give it in return
He blesses us turn by turn
We love him
He loves us
He is a great and generous man together
We make Happiness

Values – Pranav Vetrichelvan & Vijay Ramkirath

The first value is love
And that teaches us to be as sweet as a dove
The second value is truth
Teaching us not to say untruth
The third is non-violence
Which teaches us not to be a fraudulence
The fourth is peace
It's an infectious, helpful disease
The fifth is right conduct
The final touch, to never have misconduct.

Poem – Nitya Chawla & Jasmin Marwaha

The values are important here,
To learn and share everywhere.
Right-conduct, truth, love
Your heart will soar above.
Non-violence and peace,
Your life will be at ease.
Gooooood.....Values

Sathya Sai Baba – Menon Lojan & Devesh Sahjiwani

Sai Baba is the best you know
And he shares and cares for us
I wish I could be like him for all to see
But he's the best, don't you all agree?
After all, we do try.
Besides, we get better each day and night
And after a while we'll be in our friends' sight Means we'll be more like him and our friends will depend on us.

The five human values – Theepshika Satheeskumar and Tirtha Sreelekshmi

There are five human values that we cannot see.
Five human values that should be you and me.
The first is truth that rings the bell inside when we do not lie.
The second is love to share not hide.
The third is peace that keeps your mind still.
The fourth is right conduct on doing what is right, from view and as within sight.
The fifth is totalling up all the other four and it's called non-violence
For our thoughts, words and actions to be out of violence

Sathya Sai
Baba, one to be missed by

all. He worked day and night non-stop for us and the world. He was a person with true character. He was a person with a loving soul, he was someone who had changed the world forever

He only did right, thank you Sathya
Sai Baba for helping us, people succeed

– Deeksha Tandon

Sathya Sai Baba

Born for his people's redemption;
So far from where I trot
Our founder and our chancellor
None other than dear Bhagawan Sathya Sai Baba.

Jet-black 'froed
And ready to serve,
Found he a place
In said race.

Lofty as a mountain,
Yet lowly as a valley,
Ambled he in the midst of uncertainty.

Water there,
Food to spare,
Perpetual knowledge -
All for all.

For those sevenfold divine,
And others lacking words to spiel
As mine.

Oh, though I do not know
Of many as great as thou hast been
I truly know that you have shown
True man from true man.

“The living spring,
The living fire,
Sweet unction and true love,”
Sathya Sai Baba stays his name.

A Dream Come True

The dream to pursue discipline
Has finally come true
Coming to this school has made me learn not to commit a sin
Is this real no more monday morning blues

Who established all this
Our Founder Sathya Sai Baba
Oh, He is surely missed

The darkened room has been enlightened
Sathya Sai Baba is here
No need to be frightened
Baba guards all our fears

We are all so blessed to attend this school
We have pursued discipline
I cannot be more thankful I have the opportunity to study at Sathya Sai school

Grade 8

Sathya Sai School

The sound of footsteps echoed down the hall
A line of students walk down the hallway, dressed in their best uniform
As they head to class, they whisper amongst themselves
“What could we be doing in class today?”
Perhaps, learning about values
Reading a story with a moral
Or drawing a comic on subvalues
The bell rang and the punctual students are already at their seats
An expression of excitement,
An internal desire,
And eagerness to learn
The teacher said,
“You will be writing poems about our school.”
Millions of ideas ran across their minds
Fifteen students, one dream
To touch the hearts of others with poems about our holy school
At Sathya Sai School,
We are not schoolmates, we are family

Viona Vanaki

Unity

Understand others, where they are from and who they are Not a single soul wants to generate peace into war
Integration and inclusiveness prevent separation and discrimination
The thread joined with others becomes a beautiful carpet
You can't snap 10 sticks while together, but you can break one stick while alone

Viona Vanaki

Peace

Peace is not violence; it is love and patience.
Peace is the world.
Peace is the reflection of the earth and river.
Peace is the wind that blows above.
Peace is the hand of education.

Sai Baba

Healthcare is the one care that makes us all be fair
Without it the unfortunate could not bear
Great minds like Sai Baba are quite rare
Who sacrifice their lives for those who can't care
With Sai Baba there, our problems cannot scare
Thanks to healthcare we can now help and bear with all the world's scares.

Love

Love
Precious, the key
Spread it to others too
Loving yourself is the first key

Nandhika Natarajan

Understand others and stand tall together
Non-violence is key
In life unity is needed for success
Togetherness is unbreakable
You should be united with others

Kajri Subash

Understanding others pain and ideas; working with it
Nothing can work without unity
In unity, the same tasks appear easier and end results are better Together, we are unbreakable like a pack of sticks to only one
You should always be united!

Arya Shah

Unity

Understanding others will draw others closer to you
Never losing trust with each other leads to stronger bonds
Indestructible together, easily breakable as one
Together we stand tall and tower over our issues
You should be kind to others and love them unconditionally

Reena Bungaroo

Unity

Unanimous in our actions as a team.

Numerous efforts and creative minds to adhere to our ambitions

Inclusive with our members to help, not hurt.

Togetherness in unison is how the dream works.

Young forever, our goals we will see, our aspirations we will reach.

The Winter Bear and Love

My brown coat slapping against the sheets of snow
I crawl over to the other bears in delight
But everytime I take a few steps closer
The farther the distance is to the light

I see the other bears in the distance
Playing with each other and hunting for dinner
But none come to see me or play with me
Maybe I should start to become thinner?

I enjoy the snow, I eat seals too
I might have a brown coat, one that isn't white
But I'm just a brown bear, notice me
I'm a brown bear lost in plain sight

I love winter too!
I love snow, seals, and you all too!
However I being to think
Who am I? I'm not telling the truth

I'm a brown bear lost amongst the polars
I try to find my way back, my roots, who I really am
I look at myself, my brown bear self
I wonder why I was the book misplaced on the shelf

I scream silently that I'm a winter bear
I scream so many times but yet I am pretending Pretending to be something that I'm truly not I lay in distraught, and I begin to ponder

I pretend, pretend, pretend
I wonder now when this cold winter will end
I sit in my classroom
Smiling at all my "friends"

I am the brown bear

Reena Bungaroo

Unity

United as a team we can accomplish anything
Never separating your family and friends
In this planet we can withstand anything
Together we can do much more than we could do alone
You and I is better than I

Palaash Panday

Unity

United we stand as tall as the sky, alone we fall as the ice cold, shattering rain.
Nothing should break the unity we share,
Or we too, will aid the destruction of humanity.
If we desire, we can make the sky touch the ocean and the fish climb a tree, but we can also make mother earth cry; that is how much power "we" carry.
Together we create equality in opportunities,
Compassion in the sea of crimson,
And teamwork between broken obstacles.
Together we are much stronger than the opposing force.
You and I are much more together.

Prishita

Patience

On my way to school
The sun patiently waits for the moon to go,
So it can rise.
I wait in patient silence for my alarm to ring.
I sit over the dark sky patiently waiting for my bus to arrive.
On a gloomy day I stand waiting for someone to bring me to life.
Then I sit outside a door waiting for Ms. Menon to open my world.

Light From Meditation

Links Body to Mind
In the world means peace
Goodness to the sick, sad and suffering
Healing, Peaceful and calming
True and God's touch!

Achchuthan

The Weapon of Compassion

All those weapons we use, deceiving power of strength and power
A trap that makes us feel the strongest of them all
When we can use the boomerang of kindness
Letting us live by the power of compassion and love
So why don't we drop down our slaughtering weapons Replacing them with the weapon of compassion, for that is the most powerful weapon
None of us want to speak by violence being the language of ignorance
When we can speak by the nevering acts of kindness
But as we all know, in the end the power of love wins the battle

Prishita

Values

Values are important

All around the world we must practice them.

Love, Peace, Truth, Non-Violence and Right Conduct

Unanimously practicing these values everyday at school

Each of us taking to heart, the teachings of values

Stay together and try to save the world.

Namaratha Natarajan
